MS. A. 9.2.24.77
repeated, we shall have seen over three letters, but had not seen the one from Dartmouth
we like to have seen from Georgia
so soon &
the same as we have just received Caroline's letter of the 17th of May & can only be sorry that her anxieties & perh. troubles have smothered ours as regarding Emma. One tho' she may be absent with Mary. I trust see this you will have received my letter of the 23rd of May announcing that E. was to sail on the 20th from Boston for the Europe with the Bateses. I trust Caroline received my letter of the 7th & 14th of May before she left for her tour. we were very glad that she was going & only trust that you & the children will be extremely careful these cholera times. We in N. J. & various places throughout the country & several cases are said to have occurred in Boston.
& they were all people who had been aboard a particular emigrant ship. It is stated in this morning's paper that "the English Banker Joshua Bates Esq. here is to arrive in Boston today & has taken a suite of rooms at the Tremont" I suppose we shall have the announcement of the same from Maria to night, for he has kept us pretty well posted up. He & Sarah & Rosamond are coming on to see Emma off. He has sent that she reach you safely & I do not see the will. I believe the following will be the part of July. Emma is going to see them before they the leaves & after she is gone we shall send for them here. E. is in good health & spirits & begins a little to realize the future for her to face the has hard. We yet the N. E. Convaleswhich closed last Thursday night was a most capital meeting. We never had better. The Melodeon & on the last evening Fannie Hale was introduced. It was too, mostly a civil & attorney like audience & a very great impression was evidently produced. Emma can tell you all about it. You must ask question her. About $800 was taken in pledges & S. S. & Abby Rose have gone into the field to try to rouse up the Standard if Syden will let them. Among all those affairs too E. can inform you for my time in our prison. Douglass was here making very good speeches, but was very cool to us.

We behaved civilly & easily ^{not} going out of our way or saying any ^{about} thing ~~about~~ him. Miss Griffiths the woman who made mischief of your letter to Mary Hartt is travelling in this country, & has been very grossly intimate on account of going about with Douglass. He is travelling here with her sister & in Deborah was a very ordinary looking woman, not much higher in appearance ^{than} to Mr Rose; rather more refined, & adorned ^{with} jewels a good deal. Douglass & Remond were out here to lecture last night & then Miss Griffiths & Amy Post were with them.
I have heard the Griffiths stayed at the Cowcups, & I suppose the Remonds asked them to take them. It was a violent storm the first part of the evening & Miss Cowcup was here, but Remond & Deborah went for the latter part of the evening. Douglass asked for subscription for the Natl. Soc. I told him that for 18 mos, he had not received a cent for his time or labours.

I should not think it could be kept up long. The Pattern Fair has been postponed at their request till fall. Every body says there never was so bitter Meeting than that of the Am. Soc. But you will have a chance to see the papers soon when R. E. will bring. Emma Willard died of consumption, & in the form of the poor slaves. Both the church & the baptist was to meet at the time of the Annual Meeting that Mrs. Willard & most of them were in the united friends were in attendance & Mrs. Pease as usual gave $50. E. Pease has sent £100 to the Garrison fund & £5 to the Standard & £5 to other paper, the latter against the earnest advice of Wendell & Garrison. Leslie's took against the minister in the & is very good & I will bring it. Eliza Eddy has arrived, ^{but} I have not seen her. She is to be confined in Sept. as is Harriet Palmer in Sept. when we were at the meetings. & I had with Remond, Lillian at Brookline and Debord came & were here one night when she was at the Target. I have had a letter from Tom Evile again pestilential about taking the picture of the Slave auction for ~~public~~ exhibition because you had framed it & offering to pay for the same, but I thought it best to write a polite note telling him to take it. & I knew there you would be happy to thus far co-operate for bringing it to further views. If you should ever go to Mass. keeping again I would let you come and get it. I think Ann Phillips is improving more the she does not leave her chamber. The scold of people however for her chamber & was in excellent spirits. Harriet
